March has been a thoughtful and engaging month in Dosbarth Dwynwen, with lots of opportunities to explore big ideas and celebrate learning together.

In our RVE Inquiry, we have been exploring the theme of light and darkness. We looked at this through Judaism, learning about Shabbat and even sharing a special meal together as a class. We also explored light and darkness through Holy Week in the Bible, thinking about how these themes are important in different beliefs and stories. In English, we read Leo and the Octopus. We created our own information leaflets about octopuses, including fun facts and interesting details. We worked hard to organise our ideas clearly and present our information in an engaging way.

In Maths, we have been learning about 2D and 3D shapes, exploring their properties and sorting them in different ways. We also continued developing our understanding of money, focusing on giving change and solving real-life problems.

For World Book Day, we took part in a brilliant Mabinogion drama workshop with Big Foot Wales, bringing Welsh stories to life through acting and imagination. We also visited St Illtyd's Church for our iSingPop celebration worship, where we sang and celebrated together.
